

How to schedule your 1h of free data management advice

1H of free data management advice

DataHub offers 1 hour of free data management advice to get you started on managing your research data. You can schedule an appointment with one of our data stewards and they will help you on your way.

When we have received your request for scheduling your 1 hour of free data management advice, one of our data stewards will contact you. It is possible that you will also receive some questions. We kindly ask you to prepare these questions upfront, so your 1 hour of free data management advice will be as efficient as possible.

Send email to schedule your 1H of free advice